DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Claims

1. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 25-59 have been renumbered as claims 24-56. Therefore, claims 1-56 are presently pending in the application.

Claim Objections

1. Claims 12-16, 30-34 and 35-49 are objected to because of the following informalities. Appropriate correction is required.

In claim 13, line 3, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “memory”.

In claim 14, line 3, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “memory”.

In claim 30, line 4, the phrase “a linear” should be changed to – the linear --.

In claim 33, line 1, the phrase “the step of” (first occurrence) should be deleted.

In claim 35, line 17, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “second”. In line 17, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “third”. In line 18, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “first”. In line 18, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “second”. In line 18, the word – the – should be inserted before the word “third”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 18-20 and 31-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 18, line 2, the phrase “first linear accelerometer outputs” is not clear on its meaning. How can there be more than one output when the first accelerometer produces only an output?

In claim 19, line 2, the phrase “first angular rate sensor outputs” is not clear on its meaning. How can there be more than one output when the first angular rate sensor produces only an output?

In claim 31, lines 1-2, the clause “the plurality of linear acceleration outputs series in the memory” is not clear on its meaning. In line 3, the phrase “the linear accelerometer threshold” lacks antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-12, 17-46 and 50-56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by either U.S. Patent 6,438,472 (Tano et al.) or U.S. Patent 6,067,488 (Tano) or U.S. Patent 6,421,622 (Horton et al.) or U.S. Patent 6,292,759 (Schiffmann) or JP 9-52569 (Abe).

The references, Tano et al., Tano, Horton et al., Schiffmann, Abe, disclose a data recorder comprising an angular rate sensor producing an angular rate sensor output; a processor coupled to the angular rate sensor; and a memory coupled to the processor for storing the angular rate sensor. (See, Figure 1 of Tano et al.; Figure 2 of Tano; Figure 2 of Horton et al.; Figure 1 of Schiffmann; Figure 2 of Abe).

With regards to claims 2-9, the references, Tano et al., Tano, Horton et al., Schiffmann, Abe, suggest a storing means, continuous sampling means, filter, gain circuit and an A/D converter as claimed in these claims. (See, column 6, line 49 to column 16, line 62 of Tano et al.; column 4, line 23 to column 9, line 26 of Tano; column 2, line 63 to column 8, line 58 of Horton et al.; column 3, line 13 to column 10, line 61 of Schiffmann; Figures 1-12 of Abe).

With regards to claims 10-12, the references, Tano et al., Tano, Horton et al., Schiffmann, Abe, discloses a linear accelerometer for producing a linear accelerometer output wherein the linear accelerometer output is compared to a threshold and stored if the output exceeds the threshold.

With regards to claims 17-20, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 1-16 and are rejected for the same reasons as set forth above. (claiming a first linear accelerometer and a first angular rate sensor).

With regards to claims 21-24, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 1-16 and are rejected for the same reason as set forth above. Furthermore, the references disclose a x-axis linear accelerometer, y-axis linear accelerometer, z-axis linear accelerometer, a roll angular rate sensor, a pitch angular rate sensor, a yaw angular rate sensor. (claiming three accelerometers and three angular rate sensors).

With regards to claims 25-34, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 1-16 and are rejected for the same reasons as set forth above. (claiming an angular rate sensor and a linear accelerometer).

With regards to claims 35-46, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 1-16, 21-24 and are rejected for the same reason as set forth above. (claiming three accelerometers and three angular rate sensors).

With regards to claims 50-56, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 1-9 and are rejected for the same reason as set forth above. Furthermore, the references disclose a second angular rate sensor and a third angular rate sensor. (claiming three angular rate sensors).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 13-16 and 47-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either U.S. Patent 6,438,472 (Tano et al.) or U.S. Patent 6,067,488 (Tano) or U.S. Patent 6,421,622 (Horton et al.) or U.S. Patent 6,292,759 (Schiffmann) or JP 9-52569 (Abe) in view of U.S. Patent 5,754,449 (Hoshal et al.).

With regards to claims 13-14, Hoshal et al. discloses a data recorder comprising, as illustrated in Figure 1, a humidity sensor 16 and a temperature sensor 14. (See, column 3, lines 15-44). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have readily recognize the advantages and desirability of employing the humidity sensor and the temperature sensor as taught by Hoshal et al. to the apparatus of either Tano et al., Tano, Horton et al., Schiffmann, Abe to provide environmental conditions during handling and transportation of industrial applications at different transport modes or regions. (See, column 1, lines 9-20 of Hoshal et al.).

With regards to claims 15-16, the references, Tano et al., Tano, Horton et al., Schiffmann, Abe, further discloses a data communication interface for transmitting information to the processor.

With regards to claims 47-49, the claims are commensurate in scope with claims 13-16 and are rejected for the same reasons as set forth above.
